DEDICATION

We Westerners were saddened this Christmas by the death of the Science Department Head, Mr. Albert Russell.

He was a product of Alberta. He was born and received his early education in Olds, took his Normal School in Camrose and was graduated Bachelor of Science from the University of Alberta. As a major, he served with distinction in the Calgary Highlanders in both the Second World War and the Korean War. The remainder of his adult life he gave to teaching in Alberta — again with distinction, some time in the country, then thirty years in Calgary, the last twelve in Western Canada High as head of the Science Department.

His heart was in his work of education. The lessons he taught, with their beautiful, smooth logic and quiet wry wit, were a delight. His students learned the art of reasoning from him. Students with difficulties and teachers new to the profession (and old experienced hands, too) were never denied his help.

All knowledge was his province. He could discuss literature, music and art as well as science. His own writing was elegant in its conciseness and clarity.

Therefore

We dedicate this issue of the Acatec to the memory of
ALBERT RUSSELL

WARD STECKLE
Principal

I deem it a privilege to bring greetings to the student body from the administration and staff of Western.

The celebration of our Centennial year has added an element of excitement and pride to the 1966-67 year term. Never has it been so evident that it is a great thing to be a Canadian. To be a young Canadian faced with the challenge of a world functioning through automation, technological marvels, and cybernetics is to enjoy the best that life has to offer. These advantages you enjoy by right of citizenship. It must be obvious that your good fortune places upon you an obligation to live and work in such fashion as to be worthy of such advantages.

In this our Centennial year many people are looking back on the past glories of our homeland. The Acatec has chosen to look ahead, for we students of Western Canada only admire or learn from the past, we cannot change it. Our mark will be left on the next centuries.

Though we have not yet achieved the perfect yearbook that will please all the students of Western we have tried to make this issue the best with the hope that it will be a cherished memory of your high school years.

I would like to extend my personal thanks to all the students and teachers who helped to make this Centennial issue of the Acatec possible.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

The Students' Council under the leadership of Bill Taggart, President; with Vice President, Don McNeil; Jim Wise, Second Vice President; Valorie Nicholson, who was Treasurer; Ruellen Forsyth, acting as Secretary; and Francis Rootman, Corresponding Secretary. The council also made use of Staff Advisor Mr. R. M. Dobson and advisory to the treasurer was acted by Mr. G. A. Garbutt. All these people made a great contribution to school life during the 1966-67 term. The council was also grateful to the Room and Club Representatives who attended the meetings. Some important projects undertaken by the Council included: A Candy House donated at Christmas time to the Salvation Army's Children's Village, Room campaign for the Chinese orphan, School Sweaters and mammoth preparations for one of Western's biggest-ever graduating classes. Many grants to clubs and sports activities were also made during the year by the Students' Union through the Students' Council.

Bill Taggart
1966-67 President of Students' Council

MRS. JAMIESON TRIBUTE TO

There is no one in Western — from the Principal down — who has more personal and friendly relations with all students than our Librarian, Mrs. Jamieson. "Where can I find out how many legs a bee has?" "Can you tell me who was the Duke of Bilgewater?" "Have you 'Time to Be Happy'?" Questions like these — hundreds of them — are put every day to Mrs. Jamieson. She answers them all cheerfully, often taking much time and trouble to satisfy her young questioners.

Born in Sundridge, a village near North Bay, in Ontario, Mrs. Jamieson came West in 1906. She attended Camrose Normal School in 1918, then taught school for ten years before attending University in Edmonton. She taught high school for another thirteen years before taking the post of Librarian at Western in 1944. She was married in 1943.

And now the time has come for Mrs. Jamieson to retire. What will Western do without her? Students and teachers alike have come to depend on her friendly help, her unfailing knowledge, her encouraging words.

One of our students has put his feelings in the following words, which in some measure speak for everybody: "I think Mrs. Jamieson is a most wonderful person. When I see her happy, I am immediately gladdened. When I see her distress, her distress becomes mine. I tell her my problems and she listens to me as if she were my dear late grandmother. And though she smiles at everyone, I like her smile for me."

Mrs. Jamieson takes with her the gratitude and love of students and teachers together with our sincere wish that her retirement may be a happy one.

This space was inadvertently left vacant. This writer was assigned the task of filling it with an inspirational message that would communicate meaningfully to you the graduates. Unfortunately the task has proven too much for his meager talents.

There are two principal reasons for his failure:
(a) the writer is a "square" (b) the best graduation similes and analogies were given to more competent writers.

The problem of inspiring those who have the inspiration of their own success appears redundant.

It is, perhaps, sufficient to remind you that success breeds success, but success requires work and commitment to the task at hand. Then again, commitment requires some form of procedural system, some "rules to go by." See how complicated this message can get? Who is to supply these rules? Will you accept them from the "squares"?

As for communication between the generations, everyone says that it is becoming more difficult.

Perhaps this is so. Nonetheless, many of the "squares" and the "aged" are in fact open to persuasion and change. Some of them may even be willing to work for your revolution. (Most of us have Saturdays and Sundays off.) The secret of this persuasion is tact, perseverance and a demonstrated willingness to "take your bumps" for your ideas. (If you are a dirty bearded protestor, wash your hands before turning these pages.)

Finally, it remains only to wish you all congratulations and continued success from the members of the Establishment.

G. B. S.

P.S. so that this message will indeed have something for everyone, the writer includes the following observation:

If properly folded, a diploma will fly at least fifty feet on a clear day.

MESSAGE TO GRADUATES

LIFT-OFF

In rocketry today, a multi-stage craft is the norm. The first stage lifts the ship from the launching pad, establishes momentum and direction. Then the first rocket engine, having fulfilled its job, is left behind as a second booster opens up, adds new momentum, and alters the direction according to the programmed objective. Each engine in turn is abandoned, as the next rocket adds its thrust and its correction toward destination. Finally, the craft has its smaller thrusters to correct for the ultimate perfect orbit, moon landing, or planetary journey.

Similarly, your own rocket journey is now commencing. Despite occasional malfunctions en route, most of you are on schedule, twelve years to the lift-off.

In Education's Stage One, we try to prepare each student for the ultimate flights to the farthest galaxies. Not everyone can reach those far-off objectives, but each of you can prepare your second, third, and reserve thrusts for objectives which are important to you and to your fellows. You will choose your objective. You will zero in the navigation systems. You will refine the fuels of knowledge and spirit for the farthest-possible flights in your chosen direction. There is help available for you in all these things — but you will have to seek out the most current information, the wisest counsel. Choices and decisions will have to be made—by you. One thing is certain — always you will have to learn more. And more! And more! Even when one objective is reached — more!!

Our privilege has been to help you in Stage One here at Western. However, we hope to see your subsequent thrusts carry you right to the stars. We know that those flights toward the limits of your capabilities will be exhilarating and productive.

Happy Journeys!

G. A. GARBUTT

Greetings and farewell to the graduates of Western in this centennial year.

May you always seek perfection in your work. Understanding of your aims, scrupulous attention to details in some instances, broad points of view in others lead to attainment. Achievement requires time, patience and sustained effort. In work well done there is satisfaction to yourself and service to others. Yet while striving for perfection, do not be overly disappointed and concerned if you fall short of your goal.

Those of you who are continuing your formal education remember certain facts, ideas and laws have to be memorized, since thinking does not take place in a vacuum. Ideas cannot be interrelated if they are not clear in the mind. Knowledge of entities, full acquaintance with and organization of facts comes with repetition; review is essential. If you find a chapter particularly difficult come back to it again and again. New understandings and discoveries come to those who are fully acquainted with the background material.

May you have concern for your fellow man. Help him. Strive to make friends. Retain a forgiving heart even when you cannot comprehend why your friend acted as he did. It has been said that more jobs have been lost through inability to get along with fellow workers than through inefficiency.

The good wishes of all go with you in your future endeavors.

G. DANN

Can you remember yourselves in September, 1964, when you first entered the front doors of "Western"? I can see you very well, — eager, a little uncertain, questioning, a bit impatient to get started, to find out what it was all about. And now? You know what it is all about, but I hope that you are still eager, still questioning, and still looking for new worlds to conquer.

We have shared many things since you first came to Western. We have endured Monday mornings, fire drills, the P.A., teachers, students, administrators, building construction, seventeenth avenue, report cards, and the only decent fire we ever had being put out before it could do any good.

But it hasn't all been frustration. Not all classes were in the first period Monday, some lessons have been challenging, and much work has been rewarding.

Other things we have shared too: the poignant notes of the bugle playing the "last post" on a November morning; the infectious gaiety of "Deck the hall" at the Christmas Assembly; the red-blooded "cowpokes," right off the range on Western Night; the mellow sophistication of the Graduation Ball; and that lump in the throat at the final banquet and Graduation Ceremony.

I have been fortunate enough to know many of you as individuals. In a world in which we are increasingly counted, numbered, sorted, grouped, ticketed, and filed, we must constantly remind ourselves of the value of the individual. We must continue to prize our own distinctness, that intangible, miraculous something which makes us ourselves, and not anyone else.

One of my greatest pleasures in teaching is getting to know so many young people, both in and out of the classroom. I value these contacts most highly. When I look at many pictures in this Acatec, I shall be reminded of many things which we have done together. Your enthusiasm, your tolerance, your cooperation, and your friendship have done much more than you will ever know to make my years with you at Western such happy ones.

MARGARET T. DOBSON

Graduation Ball

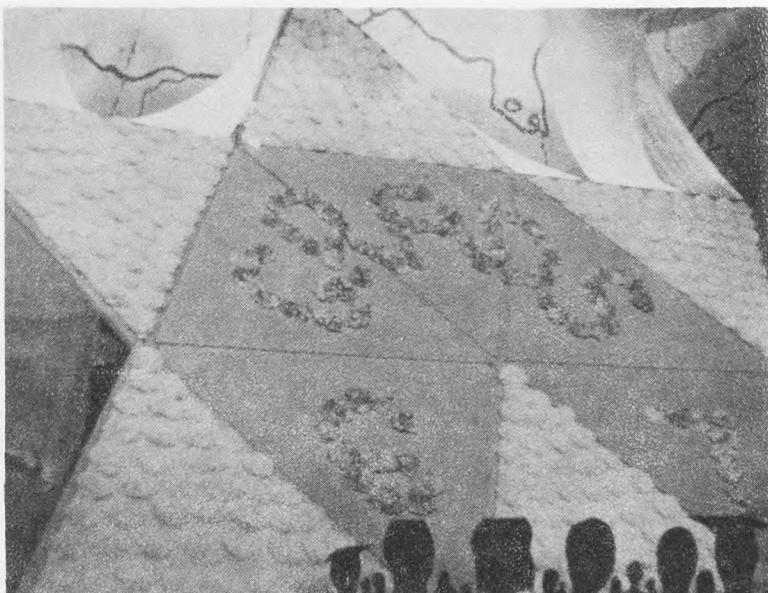

Graduation night is a moment of grandeur in the memories of all who were there.

Floor length gowns, tuxedo's, corsages, music and dancing. The years of work were worth it just to earn the right to see the girls in their glory! The evening was just too short.

BANQUET and Ceremony

The centennial graduation banquet was held at the University of Calgary dining center, on May 26, 1967. Following the banquet was the ceremony at Western. Valedictorians were Frances Abele and Harrison Smith, guest speaker Dr. W.J. Collett and Chairman Mr. H. L. Gunderson. Selections played by the school orchestra under the direction of Mr. P. Walker.

REMEMBRANCE DAY

On November 10, 1966, the students and staff of Western Canada High School assembled around the cenotaph in front of the school to honour the memory of the dead of World Wars I and II.

Following the cenotaph service, a program including an invocation by Rev. Donald Littlejohns, selection by the school choir and orchestra, and a Remembrance Day Address delivered by Mr. R. W. Pulleyblank, was held in the auditorium.

But the present and the future were not forgotten, as academic awards were presented to students of Grades 10, 11 and 12.

QUEEN

Miss Western, Sherry Duncan, crowned by Carol Schiffner

DANCE

238 Versions of dancing. This is one of them.

MUSIC
GREAT

The night of The Queen Dance of 1966, might have been the most memorable night for Miss Sherry Duncan, now Miss Western. Also the music, dancing and sets are a past but not a forgotten memory of the Queen Dance.

Frank Schmidt, Pat Abbott, Marc Magathan and members of the Booster Club were proud of the amount of money they made on the Carnival. A lot of team effort, enthusiasm and nights after school made it a success. Frank Schmidt, President of the club was pleased with the cooperation and participation of the students. There were such things as Kissing booths, fortunes, pies, pie throws and casinos.

How long can love last?
As long as glass bubbles
handled with care,
As long as six snowflakes
Six floating flakes of snow.
As long as two delicate orchids in a snow storm.

SKIER'S SOLILOQUY or HAMLET REVISED

To ski or not to ski: that is the question;
Whether 'tis nobler in the body to suffer
The slings and crutches after outrageous falls,
Or to remove skis in front of a slope of uncertainty,
And by heading in the other direction end it. To fly: to fall
No more; and by a fall to say we start
The back-ache, and the thousand natural splinters
That bone is heir to, 'tis an ending
Devoutly to be hoped. To schuss, to fall;
To fall: perchance to break: aye, there's the rub;
For in that fall of pain what ski patrol may come,
When we have kicked off these fatal skis,
Must catch our breath; there's the respect
That makes arduous of so long ski,
The harness is wrong, the bindings broken,
The pangs of sharp pain, the broken leg,
The hardness of hill, and the turns
That patient skier of the unworthy takes,
When he himself might his bone break,
With a pointed ski pole.

A Meeting, A Farewell

I received a letter from him; a note rather, informing that he would be passing through and looking forward to seeing me.

Excitement, jubilation raced through me as I readied for his welcome, recalling those wonderful, three years when a chance meeting had developed into an intense, warm, personal friendship. We were so much alike, young, carefree, full of ambition. His secrets were mine; mine his; our dreams, our hopes were one.

He came; we shook hands, conversed till late into the night, remembered old jokes. But something was wrong! One of us had changed! Desperately, we both tried to enter each other's worlds, but somehow remained on the fringes.

His stay was short, probably much shorter than originally planned. Parting was a relief; we could now crawl back into our two very private worlds.

I saw him off; oh, we promised to see each other again soon, both knowing very well that a future encounter would be avoided. Life lay ahead, not behind. There was no turning back; we had come too far, too fast.

A poem is a labour of love . . .
And so
my pen hesitates
to bare my soul.
My mind balks at the thought at first,
then succumbs.
And I write.

Ruth.

An ant crawls and struggles across a heap
of leaves
An endless journey
The asphalt dark and warm looms in front of him
SQUASH!

You, The Failure:
reach into night,
try to clasp a handful of something reliable
a little box of happiness or a crystal bottle of laughter.
With calculations just a little off
You find in your palm
Only a few grey-black particles of dust.

Hey there, Laughing girl . . .
I sense
the hollowness
in your voice.
The emptiness echoes
in your laugh.
Hey girl
close your mocking mouth.
Open your heart
And be sincere

Ruth.
